Boost In Taxes Is Taken Up

Senate Group Approves 'First Installment' Of Five Billion

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—(AP)—The Senate Finance committee today unanimously approved President Truman's "first installment" $5,000,000,000 tax boost, to help finance the Korean war and to arm America against Communist aggression.

The legislation, which may go to the president's desk by Sept. 1, puts the nation's tax laws virtually on a wartime footing.

It boosts individual income taxes by about $3,000,000,000 meaning increases of up to 20 per cent for the 50,000,000-plus taxpayers. Corporations will pay $1,500,000,000 more a year.

The measure provides a full tax exemption on the service pay of GI's fighting the Korean war. It gives tax incentives to quicken industry's retooling for the production of the needs of the armed forces.

To Study Excess Profits

It contains no excess profits tax on corporations, but the finance committee instructed its staff to draw up proposals, for later action looking toward the imposition of such a levy in 1951.

Moreover, the committee ordered its staff to study the possibilities of an excess profits levy on the war-swollen incomes of individuals, and to look into the possibilities of wholesale or retail sales taxes, or a national transactions tax.

Although the measure does not plug all the tax law loopholes that Mr. Truman suggested, Finance Chairman George (D-Ga) told newsmen "I am confident the bill will produce revenue close to $5,000,000,000."

In a move to encourage production to arm America against Communist aggression, the committee yesterday expanded the scope of the measure, to restore a system used in World War II.

Under this plan, facilities built or acquired for emergency production would be given special tax treatment. They could write off in five years—20 per cent a year—the entire cost of the facilities as deductions from gross

Call Strikes On Short Roads

Two Rail Unions Direct Walkout For Five Days

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—(AP)—The trainmen and conductors unions today called strikes on two short line railroads beginning next Tuesday, to last until midnight Saturday, August 26.

The walkouts were ordered on the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad, with headquarters in Chicago, and the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad, Pittsburgh, effective at 6 a.m., (local time) Aug. 22.

A spokesman for the unions said the strike will directly involve 5,000 workers, and will indirectly idle perhaps 50,000.

Similar five-day walkouts were directed yesterday at three strategic terminals employing 3,000 trainmen. The terminal railroads are the Kentucky and Indiana Terminal railroad, with headquarters at Louisville, the Minnesota Transfer railroad, with headquarters at St. Paul, and the River Terminal railroad with headquarters at Cleveland.

The two unions are engaged in a wage dispute with the nations railroads.

Workers of Red Cross to Korea

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The welfare services of American Red Cross field workers in Korea were offered to the troops of other nations responding to the United Nations call for assistance in the Korean conflict.

In a letter addressed to the Red Cross societies of the nine countries involved, the American organization outlined a four-point program it could offer other UN troops until their own Red Cross workers join them in Korea. The program includes counseling on personal and family problems, transmitting or requesting information through Red Cross channels, distributing comfort articles, and providing such recreation facilities as may be requested by the military.

The offer went to the Red Cross societies of Great Britain, Australia, The Netherlands, The Philippines, Thailand, New Zealand, Bolivia and Canada and to the Red Crescent of Turkey. All of these countries have announced their willingness to send forces to Korea.

Currently there are 21 American Red Cross field workers in Korea, including three women, providing traditional Red Cross services to American troops. Eleven more workers are en route. The aid offered other UN forces parallels that being given to U.S. servicemen. Since the conflict started Red Cross headquarters at Tokyo has requested $90,000 worth of supplies for use in Korea.

Bill On Social Security To White House

Would Bring In 10,000,000 More Under ts Scope

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 — (AP) —The Senate today approved and sent to the White House a bill bringing 10,000,000 additional persons under Social Security coverage and boosting benefits for 3,000,000 retired workers.

Approval was by voice vote.

The compromise measure, worked out in a Senate-House conference, was adopted by the House yesterday, 374 to 1.

Despite objections to some features of the measure, President Truman was expected to sign it into law.

This would mean that retired workers eligible for benefits would receive an average of $46 monthly, instead of the present $26, effective next month.

Fail To Break U. N. Deadlock

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 17—(AP)—The United Nations Security Council failed at a closed-door meeting to break its deadlock over inviting Korean representatives to take part in U.N. debates.

Russia's Jakob A. Malik called the closed meeting of the United Nations Security Council for 1 p. m. EST today—one hour before a scheduled public meeting.

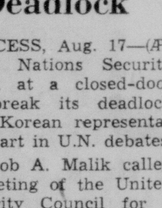

The Soviet deputy foreign minister is August president of the 11-nation body, now deadlocked in a bitter fight over Korea. In notifying other council members, Malik gave no reason for the closed meeting.

Malik's move came as the United States prepared to submit its second report on Korean military operations under Gen. Douglas MacArthur's unified command.

Press On Support Measure

Committees In Approval Of Bills To Provide Families Aid

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—(AP)—Senate and House committees today approved legislation aimed at providing $85 to $125 a month for the support of families of enlisted servicemen in the three lower grades. The man himself would pay $40 of the total.

The Senate Armed Services committee and a House subcommittee both made the same approach to the problem. This was by amending present pay regulations to provide "quarters allowances" for privates, privates first class and corporals in the Army and similar grades in the other services.

The measures differ in detail but are constructed along the same general line.

Take the House bill first. Under it, a "quarters allowance" of $45 would go to an enlisted man in the three lower grades with one dependent. If he had two dependents, it would be $70; if more than two $85. The man would have to allot $40 a month from his pay to the dependents.

This means that a wife, for instance, would receive $45 "quarters allowance" plus $40 from her husband, a total of $85. A wife and one child would receive a total of $110; a wife and two children, a total of $125.

There is now no "quarters allowance" for enlisted men in the three lower grades, although it is provided for higher ranking enlisted men and for officers.

The allowance is a payment the government makes if it does not provide housing for the man's family.

The Senate Armed Services committee formally endorsed a similar bill providing $45 allowance for a single dependent, $67.50 for two dependents and $75 for three.

Enlisted men above the first three grades now receive a monthly quarters allowance of $67.50.

The Senate bill would leave that unchanged for men with no more than two dependents. For those with two or more dependents it would raise the figure to $75. The House bill would provide a rise to $70 in the case of one dependent and to $85 if there are two or more dependents.

No change is proposed in either bill in the allowances for warrant officers and officers.

The Senate committee's action sends its bill on to the Senate floor. The House measure must go from the subcommittee to the full Armed Services committee and receive its approval before going to the House.

Sell Nickel Coffee Even at a Loss

ALLIANCE, Neb., Aug. 17—(AP) — Restaurant owner Rex Myers got tired "of people telling me I can make a killing on a cup of coffee at a nickel."

So for four hours yesterday, Myers sold nothing but coffee. He even furnished free nickels for the customers.

Afterwards a banker and an auditor were called in. They figured the cost of labor, materials, cream and sugar and came up with a figure of 6.486 cents a cup.

Myers said he'll continue to sell nickel coffee. But instead of thanking the customer, "now the customer can thank me."

Examination On of Babies

Preliminaries In Health Contest Start For Fair

One child is being examined every 15 minutes by doctors from the State Division of Health in connection with the Blue Ribbon Baby and Nine-Point awards which are given each year by the health division of Missouri at the Missouri State Fair, which opens Sunday.

The examinations are being held on the lower floor of the Women's building and will continue until Tuesday, August 22, at which time winners of the State Fair children's contest will be announced.

Children between the ages of 12 months and 24 months, who are eligible for the Blue Ribbon baby class, are given examinations every morning and those over four years of age, falling into the Nine-Point category, are examined each afternoon.

Many Entries

Over 250 entries were received by the health office before the deadline Monday. Notices of appointment dates have been mailed to these entrants.

The children are examined by three doctors and if they qualify they are presented awards at the end of the examination. From those who receive awards a winner is picked in each age group and given State Fair trophies on Wednesday.

The children are examined on the following points: nutrition, posture, vision, hearing, teeth, throat, diptheria immunization, smallpox vaccination and birth registration. Blue ribbon requirements are birth registration, good nutrition, normal dentition, normal nose and throat conditions, remediable erthopedic defects, normal genitalia, immunization against diptheria and smallpox, average mental development and regular practice of health habits such as daily naps.

In charge of the examinations is Dr. L. M. Garner, director of maternal and child health; Dr. W. H. Crouch, pediatric consultant; Dr. Paul Mallinckrodt, dentist; Mrs. Mildred McMillan, maternal and child health consultant; Mrs. Hortense Cruce, clerk, and Mrs. Frances Hemphill, district health nurse from Sedalia.

County Tax Levy Reduced

The Pettis County Court unanimously voted this morning to reduce the county tax levy by three-cents per one-hundred dollar valuation. The county tax levy has been 50-cents and the new levy will be 47-cents per hundred valuation.

Recently the state notified the county to raise its assessed valuation one percent on farm lands. The court, in an endeavor to keep the taxes at a level as in recent years, reduced the levy so they would have approximately the same amount of money to operate the county business.

Believe Russia Try To Grab Off North Korea

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—(AP)—Many of the best informed American officials now believe Russia will openly grab off North Korea—above the 38th parallel—rather than let a victorious U. N. restore peace and unity to the country.

It is assumed here that the precise steps to be taken have been under negotiation between the Soviet Union and Communist China. It is also assumed they will act jointly when the time comes.

Administration officials, however, give little credence to reports which have come mainly from Chinese Nationalist sources that Russian Vice-Premier V. M. Molotov has been in Peiping, Red Chinese capital, negotiating with Premier Mao Tse Tung and other officials on this and related problems.

Whether Molotov has or has not been there, the belief of responsible authorities here is that the Soviets and Chinese must be deeply involved in fateful talks at this time, concerning not only Korea but Formosa and other Far Eastern political questions.

Increasing evidence of the buildup of U. N. power in Southern Korea, it is believed, must now give the Russians and the Chinese virtual proof of the determination of the U. S. and other countries associated in the Korean struggle to drive the invaders out of the south. In other words, the Red strategists must now decide what means they will use to deal with a victorious U. N. coalition in Korea whereas up to this time they may very well have counted on a Communist victory.

For the U. N. the prospect of eventual success in South Korea has already raised the question, thus far unanswered, as to what U. N. forces should do when they reach the 38th parallel. Should they then stop short on the theory that the invader as been driven out of South Korea? Or should they drive on in the belief that only by crushing the Communist military power can real peace be established in Korea?

There is wide-spread belief here that the latter course is the only defensible one. This belief, however, is based on an assumption that neither Russia nor Communist China will become directly engaged in the Korean conflict.

Reds Kill 32 After Taken As Prisoners

Americans With Hands Tied Are Shot on a Hill

By Hal Boyle

WITH U.S. FIRST CAVALRY, Korea, Aug. 17—(AP)—Thirty-two American prisoners with hands tied behind their backs were shot dead today by Red Koreans on a hill west of Waegwan just before a U.S. patrol reached the spot.

The Reds tried to kill 37 prisoners in all. But five lived to tell the story. They said the Communists also massacred the wounded as they lay moaning on the ground.

This was in the area that was bombed yesterday by 98 B-29s in the heaviest air raid of the war. Killing of prisoners in this fashion is typical retaliation for such an assault.

The execution of the prisoners was on Hill 303, which was captured by the Reds this morning.

Their bodies were found in a hillside gulley recaptured by the Fifth Cavalry this afternoon. The American prisoners were killed only two hours before troopers re-took the ridge.

The Americans seized the ridge at 6:30 p.m. (3:30 a.m. Eastern Standard Time). The hill had been fought over for three days.

The 37 Americans were mowed down by bursts of gunfire.

Three North Korean prisoners were taken after a sharp fire fight nearby. One of them was postiively identified by an American survivor—Cpl. James Melvin Rudd of Salyersville, Ky.—as a member of the squad of killers.

This prisoner denied he had taken any part in the action. Regimental officers said he would be sent back with recommendation that he be tried as a war criminal.

On the way back from the front we met the prisoner and Corporal Rudd on their trip back for joint questioning. With Rudd was another survivor — Corporal Roy L. Day, Jr., El Paso, Texas.

Russian Advisers For Koreans

By Jack MacBeth

WITH U.S. 24TH DIVISION IN KOREA, Aug. 17—(AP)—Take it from three cringing, skinny North Korean prisoners of war, each of their regiments has a Russian adviser.

Captured Wednesday a short distance behind the American front line, the prisoners of war—filthy and dirty — carried two Russian rifles and a U.S. carbine. They were found mingling, in civilian dress, with a large group of refugees.

Interviewed through an interpreter, the captives told a dismal story of life in the North Korean army. None of them wanted to go back and all claimed they would be shot if they did return.

Each said there was one Soviet officer attached to each North Korean regiment.

This is what they had to say about conditions in their army:

Morale is low. The men have been told repeatedly that victory is "imminent." They do not get enough food. They are afraid and fight tenaciously only because the alternative is death from their own leaders. Their casualties have been heavy and they say "most of our friends are dead."

One prisoner said a complete company from his regiment recently deserted into the hills. He claimed very few of the soldiers are Communist party members.

In the fallen South Korean capital of Seoul, one prisoner said, there are more than 1,000 U.S. prisoners. The two Communist soldiers denied any knowledge of atrocities committed against American soldiers by their comrades.

Support For Grower Prices

Be At Maximum Levels As The Law Permits

By Ovid A. Martin

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The government will support grower prices of major crops in 1951 at maximum levels permitted by law.

That level is 90 per cent of parity. Parity, a standard for measuring farm prices, is declared by law to be equally fair to producers and those who buy their products.

The government could drop the supports to 85 per cent of parity next year.

But the international situation being what it is, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has decided to keep supports high to encourage big crops.

The first formal announcement of a 1951 support program may come within a few days for wheat.

The winter wheat portion of this grain crop will be seeded in the fall. Hence, the department will announce the support program soon to encourage increased plantings over this year's crop.

Other crops to be supported at the 90 per cent parity rate include cotton, corn, rice, tobacco and peanuts. Formal announcement of rates for these crops may not come until after the first of the year, because they are not planned until next spring.

The current wheat support rate averages $1.99 a bushel at the farm. Next year's rate is likely to be above $2, because the parity price probably will be higher. Parity prices rise and fall with corresponding changes in prices farmers pay for goods and services.

In all likelihood, the government will set higher production goals in 1951 for cotton, corn, rice and peanuts as well as wheat. It is anxious to maintain reserves for possible spread of the Korean war.

This year's wheat and cotton crops are falling below government production goals. But large reserves from past crops will provide ample supplies until 1951 crops are harvested.

Bus Line To Cut Fare To Haul More

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Suburban Bus Service Company, a small line serving some 1,800 persons daily in Northern St. Louis county, will reduce its fares Monday on the theory that cheaper rides will bring more customers.

Fares will be reduced from 12 to five cents on one line and from 12 to 10 cents on another, the company announced.

The much larger St. Louis Public Service company, serving more than 300,000 passengers daily, has on file with the Missouri Public Service Commission an application to increase its fares.

Americans In Surprise Thrust On Bridgehead Changnyong

By the Associated Press

Between 25,000 and 30,000 North Koreans—three divisions—drove to within 15 miles of Taegu, South Korean provisional capital, with a surprise show of power today, front line dispatches reported.

The enemy either had sidestepped the massive B-29 "saturation" raid on his 25 mile concentration area west of the Naktong river Wednesday, or had snapped back from it.

The center of the attack was between Waegwan and Wunwi, northeast of the bombed area, and poured through two South Korean divisions holding mountain passes.

The Red push began as the Americans attempted a surprise of their own—a renewed offensive against the bulging Changnyong bridgehead southwest of Taegu with the aid of marines drawn up from the southern front.

The devil dogs, beginning their attack at dawn, stormed and held part of "Slaughterhouse Hill," 26 miles southwest of Taegu. It was their bloodiest battle of the war.

Charge by Marines

The marines, with the U. S. 24th Infantry division on their right flank, charged to the steep rocky crest with the support of heavy artillery, tanks and rocket-firing planes in a bid for ground commanding a good part of the six by seven mile bridgehead held by 12,000 Communists.

But the new Red thrust from the north replaced the Changnyong bridgehead as the "most serious" threat to the United Nations in Korea, Eighth army headquarters said.

No river barrier stood in the way of the three divisions bearing down. However, there was a high ridge of mountains.

The Reds lashed out and captured a hill two miles northeast of Waegwan in the early morning, but U. S. First Cavalry division troopers fought halfway back up the ridge, about 14 miles northwest of Taegu, emergency capital of South Korea.

Prisoners Shot

Thirty-two more American prisoners, presumably from the U. S. First Cavalry division, were found shot dead by Red Koreans in the Waegwan front. Their hands had been tied behind their backs.

Swinging the marines into the renewed offensive against the Changnyong bridgehead involved a 27-mile fallback from hard-won territory east of Chinju on the south coast. The U. S. 25th Infantry division, left to hold that sector, set up shop behind a deep new defense line of barbed wire and mines and awaited a menacing Red concentration.

On the east coast the Allies also shortened their line. The battered South Korean Third division was evacuated by U. S. landing craft from below Yongdok. The division had been fighting an almost isolated battle since the Reds staged a surprise push behind it and captured Pohang, 63 miles north of Pusan.

Bombard Targets In North Korea

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—(AP)—The navy reported today that Allied warships have ranged up the Sea of Japan toward far North Korea and bombarded shore targets.

A spokesman said the targets were on the east coast and north of the 40th parallel, but gave no other information about them. The Korean provinces above the parallel adjoin Manchuria.

At a Pentagon briefing, the navy also supplied further details about the sea rescue of South Korean troops surrounded by Communists in the Yongdok-Pohang area. Dispatches from Tokyo had told of the evacuation and identified the troops as the South Korean Third Infantry division.

The navy said both surface craft and a helicopter were used in the operation. The helicopter took out seriously wounded men.

The South Koreans were cut off by a Communist thrust around their left flank. This thrust has threatened the American-held air field outside Pohang and caused air operations from it to be halted.

Derailed Freight Snarls Schedule

Three refrigerator cars making up a section of an east bound freight train, which contained meat destined for North Carolina, were derailed shortly before 2:00 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The first car derailed stopped in the middle of the intersection of Missouri avenue and the Missouri-Pacific tracks and section men who were called out to get the cars in order, attributed the cause of the derailment to a burned out journal which lowered the "truck" to the ground.

In the process of switching the remainder of the train to a side track the ground, wet from the recent rains caused the tracks to spread derailing two more cars.

The cars which made up the train were American Refrigeration Transit Company cars and had been assembled at Kansas City.

The freight was finally cleared and left Sedalia about 5:15 that morning. Number 10, an east bound passenger train which arrives in Sedalia at 1:50 a. m. held-up until after the freight had been cleared, 5:22 a. m.

Another passenger train number 20 which arrives in Sedalia about 3:40 a. m. was also held up and its schedule was delayed an hour and 15 minutes.

The other trains which followed these were on time and the time schedule was restored.

Jets - Steam? Awful Noise?

About 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night a loud blasting, hissing noise settled on Sedalia and caused no little amount of consternation as to what could be the cause.

Even, immediately, before the sound had died away, after having lasted about five minutes, calls were coming into the Democrat-Capital news department asking what the disturbance was.

Some people ventured such guesses as jet airplanes, steam from an engine, sand blasting and escaping pressure.

Everywhere in the streets people were gazing into the sky to see if they could see smoke or any other sign of what the "dreadful" noise might be.

The different questions asked went something like this: "What was that racket?" — "Was that a flock of airplanes?"—"What in the world is that awful noise?"—"Where is that disturbance coming from?" and "Do you hear a strange sound in the air?"

The truth of the matter is that the lining of a new boiler at the Missouri Public Service power plant was being initiated into use and at the time the blasts were being heard several men at the plant were blowing it out.

It is expected that this will not be the last time these boilers will be blasted.

Stunt Night at Water Show

The season's events at Liberty park swimming pool will be culminated tomorrow night with a water show, starting at 8:00 o'clock. Participants in the show will be Red Cross swimming pupils, life saving students and instructors.

The program will begin with a demonstration of skills learned in beginners class, followed by a rythm swim presented by the girls in the intermediate class to the tune of "Bamboo." The intermediate boys will then swim to "Brazil." The life saving students will demonstrate some of the Red Cross life saving techniques.

Those who have attended the previous stunt nights at the pool will look forward to the diving exhibition which will be presented by older boys who have mastered the difficult graceful dives.

The spot light will then be focused on the sextet composed of Judy Yeaman, John Hurley, Nancy Cook, Richard Smith, Rene Bohon and Bob Boothe. The sextette will execute graceful surface dives and dolphins to the tune of "St. Louis Blues." The pool will then be turned over to the water polo teams who will "Battle it out" in what promises to be a thrilling game.

"Miss Esther Williams of 1960" will be selected after the game and presented on the stage of the Fox theater Sunday night at 9:00 o'clock during the picture "Duchess of Idaho." The Fox theater is offering passes to this show to the winners of the polo game and the Miss Esther Williams contest.

Beginning, intermediate and advanced pupils will participate in the finale, which will be an impressive number to the tune of "Blues in the Night." During the summer 217 pupils enrolled for classes at both Liberty and Hubbard pools. Of this number 73 passed beginners, 18 intermediates, three swimmer, seven advanced swimmers, one junior life saving and 10 senior life saving.

Anxious Gen. 'Ike' Be GOP Nominee

FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 17—(AP)—Henry Zweifel, Texas Republican party leaders in seven of the 11 southwestern states want Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as the GOP nominee for President in 1952.

Zweifel said the poll placed Eisenhower ahead in Texas, Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Oklahoma and North Carolina.

Zweifel began another "Ike for President" boom when he announced recently he thought Eisenhower should be nominated by the Republicans in 1952 because "he is needed to head the government in the greatest crisis in American history."

The poll was taken by delegates and alternates from 11 states to the 1948 GOP national convention. Each was asked to query the first five voters he met on their choice of tickets headed by Senator Taft of Ohia, Gov. James Duff of Pennsylvania, Harold Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania, Gov. Earl Warren of California and Eisenhower.

Results were: Eisenhower 263, Taft 233, Warren 58, and Duff eight.

Taft led in Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee.

Eisenhower, vacationing in Denver, said that "as always, I have no comment to make on political matters."

175th M. P. Battalion Into Federal Service

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17—(AP)—Seven army reserve units and one national guard unit ordered into federal service were identified by army authorities here today.

The national guard unit is the 175th military police battalion with headquarters in Jefferson City and units in several other Missouri cities. The unit now is training at Ft. Leonard Wood with the 35th division. It probably will enter federal service the first week in September.

Date for activation of the reserve units was not announced. Four of the outfits are from the St. Louis area. Outstate units alerted are the 347th replacement battalion at Kirksville, the 990th signal company, Kansas City, and the 816th field artillery battalion at Jefferson City.

WACS attached to the units will report with the men.

Governor To Spend Day At Fort Leonard Wood

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 17—(AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith said he plans to attend Governor's day Saturday at Fort Leonard Wood, where the 35th division of the Missouri and Kansas National Guard is training at its annual summer encampment.

Gov. Frank Carlson of Kansas also is expected to attend.

Next week Smith said he plans to attend the State Fair at Sedalia on Wednesrday, Governor's day, and on Friday, which has been designated press day.

Hurricane Off Florida Coast

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 17—(AP)—A severe tropical hurricane, packing a 140-mile an hour wallop, wallowed aimlessly 700 miles off the Florida coast last night with no apparent forward movement.

An air force B-29 hurricane hunter plane out of Bermuda reported late today the storm was virtually in the same position as it had been at 9 a. m. (EST) when it was reported by a navy hurricane hunter from Puerto Rico.

It was growing in both size and intensity. Hurricane winds—75 miles an hour or better—fanned out over an area of the Atlantic 80 miles to the north of the center and 50 miles southward. Gale winds of 60 to 70 miles an hour spread over an area 250 miles in diameter.

New Teachers Need Guidance

NEW YORK—(AP)—The beginning teacher needs as much help as the beginning pupil, says the Metropolitan School Study Council, a group of superintendents and supervisors of school systems in and around New York.

In a booklet, "The Newly Appointed Teacher," they cite a new teacher's needs to know how to deal with behavior problems. Says the council: "The new teacher should be helped to recognize symptoms of pupils' maladjustment. He may, at first, confuse youthful mischief and exuberance with the more serious problems, and in this too he needs guidance."

The council says he should be helped to find living quarters and to make social contacts. He should learn about his special assignments and special duties. Opportunities for professional advancement and tenure and pension rights should be explained.

CIO To Have National Daily

LONG BEACH, Calif., Aug. 17—(AP)—Delegates to the national convention of the CIO Oil Workers International union adopted a resolution calling on the parent CIO to establish a national daily newspaper.

The resolution proposed that the newspaper have its headquarters at a central location with branches of the daily located in other cities.

The 250 delegates adopted another resolution proposing that the union establish a mutual life and accident insurance company for its members.

The convention adopted a policy on two phases of union-employer negotiations. Under this policy locals of the union may negotiate for a contract clause providing for wages to go up automatically with living costs and may negotiate for pensions.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. GOP-Dixiecrat Alliance Plots To Control Congress By '52;

By Jack Anderson and Fred Blumenthal

WASHINGTON. — Right-wing Republicans and Dixiecrats are secretly plotting a political alliance to capture control of Congress by 1952, then to take over the electoral college—key to the presidency. We have documentary proof of this daring plan, which already has the secret backing of nationally known conservatives.

In brief, the plan calls for Republicans and southern Democrats to join forces without changing party affiliations. However, they would merge their seniority and run Congress jointly. Then the next step would be to organize a similar coalition to dominate the electoral college and name a conservative president.

The ringleader of this amazing plot is stocky, ruddy-faced North Carolinian, named J. Harvie Williams. Though comparatively unknown, he claims to have the support of such GOP leaders as Senators Karl Mundt of South Dakota and John Bricker of Ohio, Congressmen Charlie Halleck of Indiana and Frederic Coudert of New York; also such southern stalwarts as Senators Harry Byrd of Virginia and Dick Russell of Georgia, Congressman Gene Cox of Georgia, and Dixiecrat Governor-elect James F. Byrnes of South Carolina.

Painstaking Plan

Williams has set forth his so-called "political realignment" plan in painstaking detail in a series of "strictly confidential" memos, which are also marked: "Please do not discuss outside sympathetic circles."

"Our plan for political realignment is a simple one," he writes. "It involves nothing more than a formal alliance between Republicans and suthern Democrats in the Senate, in the House and in the electoral college."

Of the 64 Senators in the Republican-southern bloc, Williams calculates that three southerners and seven Republican Senators would refuse to join the alliance. This would still leave a majority of 54 seats to 42. In the House, he expects to lose 21 Republicans and 13 southerners, giving the coalition control of the House by a 240-to-195 margin.

Williams explains: "In effect, this realignment would create a new party, but without the necessity of any change of party names. This realignment is legally possible now. The rules of the Senate and the rules of the House speak of the majority and of the minority rather than of Democrats and Republicans; and members of Congress are elected under the election laws of the 48 states.

"Similarly," he continues, "presidential electors are elected under the laws of the several states. The 1948 'secession' of the Democratic parties in four southern states indicates the method and the possibilities of extending realignment into the election of the president."

"Front" Organization

Williams has already formed a "front" organization to carry out his plan. He calls it the Citizens Political Committee, though he admits frankly "its title does not disclose its purpose." Williams uses the Remington Rand Company, room 1200, 314 Fourth avenue, New York City as a headquarters—though he is not now on Remington Rand's payroll.

In a private letter, dated May 13, Williams names ex-Senator Albert Hawkes of New Jersey as the leading money raiser.

"Senator Hawkes has agreed to handle that (money raising) for us," Williams writes. "I am not going to initiate any new prospects, and have turned over to Hawkes the names of the men he knows whom I've seen or corresponded with on the subject."

In another letter, dated May 1, Williams also writes: "Two things need to be done to put the realignment proposal in shape for presentation to a group for substantial financial support (about $200,000 for a one-year budget). Harold E. Talbot has agreed to arrange that group meeting. The two things are required by southern Senate leaders. They are: (1) A rather detailed plan for the joint-nomination in 1952, and (2) a merging on paper of committee seniorities of Republicans and southern Democrats."

Congressional Reaction

As a sample of private congressional reaction, Williams received a letter from Senator Mundt, dated May 16, and addressed "Dear Harvie."

"I am still inclined to believe that the merger at the congressional level has too many practical barriers to make it feasible at this junction and that the most realistic approach is one which would handle this matter in the electoral college," the Senator from South Dakota suggested.

NOTE—Williams' political thesis is that the United States is now a nation of "mongrels" with most of the "alien" elements concentrated in the urban north. His basis for realignment is a geographic unification of "white, English-speaking stocks" to elect a "conservative president." For this post, Williams favors Senator Bricker or possibly Senator Byrd.

Secret Poll

Jimmy Roosevelt, now running for governor of California, is frustrated over a secret public-opinion poll he took the other day. It revealed that 30 per cent of California's Democrats think Jimmy's opponent, Governor Warren, is a Democrat.

When asked about the poll, Roosevelt grinned:

"I don't want to run a smear campaign, but I'm determined to expose Warren's affiliation with the Republican party!"

Any Loan To Spain Should Be Through Export-Import Bank

By Bruce Biossat

America's relations with Spain are being looked at in a new light since Russia sparked the invasion of South Korea. Spain's armed strength, its avowed anti-communism and its strategic position in Europe would plainly be valuable to the West in the event Moscow launched an assault toward the Atlantic.

The military factor undoubtedly loomed large in the minds of many lawmakers when the Senate voted recently to loan Spain $100,000,000. It's no secret that the Defense Department helped convince some senators that a pro-Franco gesture at this time would be wise.

But while the Korean war has given a new urgency to the military viewpoint, the political considerations that up to now have blocked such action have not been washed away.

We have remained cool toward Spain for so long largely because Franco's admittedly Fascist regime is regarded with complete distrust by middle-of-the-road governments in Europe which are friendly to us.

Anti-Fascist feeling is strong in countries that felt the blows of Mussolini and Hitler. Europeans might toss out governments founded on friendship with a U. S. which warmed up to Franco Spain. The resulting instability would be a perfect set-up for the disruptive tactics of Moscow-directed Communists.

No doubt, too, the Russians would seize upon a pro-Franco move as proof the U. S. is the handmaiden of reaction. They already sing this theme constantly, and we would be providing them with several new choruses.

It's a ticklish thing trying to keep Europe politically stable and yet to capture the military advantages of having Spain on our side. But we've got to make this effort.

There's no reason, as Secretary of State Acheson points out, why Spain should not have a loan from the U. S. Export-Import Bank if she can qualify for it. She need only apply and her request will be weighed on its merits.

In fact, Spain right now is on the verge of asking for some $70,000,000. The bank is studying financial data from Spain as a prelude to reviewing the expected application.

But the Senate's plan to provide Spain with $100,000,000 in Marshall Plan credits is a risky approach. The Marshall Plan countries of Europe have their own organization. They haven't invited Franco to join them yet. Until they do, we ought to consider Spain's financial appeals wholly apart from that program.

News Photographers Are Brave Men, Too

While we're considering the nasty nature of the fighting in Korea, let's not overlook the job being done by civilian news photographers to bring home to Americans the form and substance of the war.

These men go into battle armed only with their unwieldy camera equipment. The average load carried by a news cameraman weighs twice as much as a super-bazooka and it isn't as much protection.

These men are civilians. Many of them were war correspondents or in the armed services in World War II. Nevertheless they are sharing with our soldiers and Marines the same dangers from North Korean guerrilla attacks, shells, mortars and tanks, and South Korean mud, rain, disease and insects.

PRAYER IS ALERT PASSIVITY

We have seen that prayer is essentially surrender, but not a passive surrender. It is an "alert passivity." It is a passivity that awakens us to an amazing activity. The musician listens in the silence to Music, surrenders to it, and then pours it forth with complete abandon. He is creative because he is receptive.

The scientist surrenders to the facts of Nature—he flings open the doors of his senses to be guided and directed by the facts. He is passive, but with an alert passivity. His facts now become factors—they are gathered up and put to work in factories, are turned out as finished products to serve the world. The surrender was really a mastery.

One day, in the train instead of thinking I simply surrendered to Thought. My mind was perfectly passive, and yet perfectly active. It seemed that Thought awakened thought. I accomplished more actual thinking in those blissful hours than in days of thinking on my own. We must learn to live in the passive voice. Only those who do so, know what it means to live in the active voice. The fussy activity of the modern man is not life; it is the nervous twitching of his disordered and starved nerves. When animals lack certain vitamins, they will become nervous, jumpy, and hysterical. The rush of modern life is not the calm, poised sureness of mastery. Rather, it is the jumpy hysteria of starved nerves crying out for vitamins of real life. Someone has said that no one commits suicide because he is tired of life—he is tired of a lack of life.

Jesus put the alternatives this way: "Men ought always to pray, and not to faint." It is pray or faint—literally that. Those who pray do not faint, and those who faint do not pray. You can become alive to your finger tips—every cell in your body alert, active, creative—provided you pray. Otherwise you faint.

Pray or be a prey—a prey to fears, to futilities, to ineffectiveness.

Gracious Father, I thank Thee that power, power, power is open to me if I but take it. Help me to empty my hands of trifling toys that I may take, take, take the things Thou art offering me—release, power victory. Why should I do myself and others this wrong?—weak when I might be strong, a victim when I might be victor. Amen.

Early Action Would Prevent Most Appendicitis Deaths

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Though the death rate has been greatly reduced in recent years, most deaths from appendicitis could be avoided entirely. If acute appendicitis is diagnosed early and the appendix is removed by surgery, there is little danger. However, much of the trouble comes because the pain may not be as severe as people expect it to be. Consequently, they are too likely to ignore the symptoms for several days and by that time the appendix may have ruptured and caused peritonitis.

Occasionally the appendix instead of lying near the front of the abdomen on the right side may be twisted towards the back so that the only symptom is back pain. The appendix can lie in some other part of the abdomen and it is not safe, therefore, to think that pain which is in the lower right side is the only kind which can mean appendicitis.

The use of cathartics or laxatives is dangerous. A laxative causes the wave-like motions of the intestines to increase. Large waves hasten the rupture of an acutely inflamed appendix. When this happens peritonitis develops — a serious complication indeed. Laxatives should be avoided like poison if there is the slightest suspicion of appendicitis. Enemas also should not be given for the same reason.

To some extent food and drink also increase the wave-like motions of the intestines. Sometimes when people have been caught in the wilderness or in some place where they could not be operated on, the inflammation in the appendix has subsided by forbidding all food and drink and applying cold to the abdomen. This is a useful emergency measure but does not, of course, get at the root of the trouble.

Take No Chances

The symptoms of appendicitis may be typical and easy to diagnose. If the pain is rather acute and located in the right lower part of the abdomen with slight fever, there is a good chance of appendicitis. Of course, this alone is not enough. Vomiting commonly accompanies appendicitis, but diarrhea is almost always absent. The presence of too many white blood cells almost invariably accompanies acute appendicitis. For this reason a blood count is most important if appendicitis is suspected.

No chances should be taken with this important disease. In recent years penicillin has often been given before operation and afterwards, and this seems to make the recovery somewhat easier. With prompt diagnoses and surgery the dangers of appendicitis are slight.

RODRIGUEZ, Mike Dominico's chauffeur, called for me later and took me to his employer's ranch, about nine miles from the hotel. It was in a class with a dude ranch, landscaped, with the house of plastered adobe. Saguara cactus, which doesn't grow naturally this side of Tucson, had been planted around it. Dominico greeted me in a beautifully appointed living room and Rodriguez left us alone.

"I didn't know you when I saw you in the hotel bar," said Dominico. "Didn't know until after it happened to Phajol. Now we can make up for lost time. With you I can do business."

He leaned forward and grinned slyly. "Dominico pay more for diamonds than fence. You let me have stones, yes?"

I lifted my brows in astonishment.

"They told me you were too reliable to dabble in hot stones. I can't believe you're really interested. Trying to trap me?"

He leaned forward still farther, grinned and winked again.

"Lots of things people don't know about Dominico! I make deal. Cash. Look."

He pulled out a fat wallet and displayed the contents.

"All $1000 bills! I pay for all 25,000 carat cash. Some proposition, huh? Dominico no piker!"

"No, Dominico, no piker," I repeated. "Dominico send Rodriguez to search my hotel room. Rodriguez knock me out when I return too soon, but Rodriguez no find diamonds, so now Dominico make big business deal!"

A sullen frown passed over the diamond driller's face.

"I don't know what you talk about. I send Rodriguez only to pick you up and bring you here. Dominico know nothing about anybody knock you out!"

I laughed in his face, then I imitated his voice again: "Dominico lies like hell!"

The diamond driller jumped to his feet.

"I bring you here for business proposition! I not take insults. You sell me the diamonds, yes?"

"I sell them, no! I think it's all a gag, Dominico. You're trying to convince me you don't have the diamonds. I think you got Phajol to come to Copper City just to rob him. That's why you insisted that he bring the entire stock. Sure, you established an alibi, planting yourself with your fiancee and Phajol's own daughter in the taproom. But Rodriguez could have sneaked into the hotel and stolen the diamonds. The clumsy clown probably killed Phajol!"

Dominico snapped: "Rodriguez!" The Mexican came into the room. I had already gone for my automatic, but I did not draw it out, as a voice said behind me: "Hold it, Senor!" I turned slowly. Another man had emerged from the doorway behind me. He carried a .38, police size. Rodriguez took my gun.

Dominico ordered: "Take him into kitchen. I don't want blood on my rugs."

THE man with the gun gestured with his eyes. I moved toward the door from which Rodriguez had emerged. Rodriguez was not wearing a gun, but there was a knife in the palm of his hand. When I entered the kitchen I stopped short. Pat Phajol stood by the huge refrigerator. Teresa Jordan was beside her. Pat met my gaze, but she did not seem happy about this business.

"Your idea?" I asked.

"This was not Miss Phajol's idea," said Dominico. "It was mine. You got the stones. Now you talk. Rodriguez and Pancho make you tell truth. Go to work, boys."

I'm not quite sure about what happened from then on; certainly I can't give a blow-by-blow account. I passed out and I was coming around again when I heard Pat say:

"He can't have the diamonds, or he would have admitted it by now!"

Dominico told her: "Pancho and Rodriguez just beginning to warm up. He'll talk!"

Dominico, noticing that I was conscious, knelt beside me.

"Why don't you tell me where the stones are? It will save you lots of beating up!"

"All right, Dominico. I'll tell you where the diamonds are. You'll have to take me to the hotel."

Dominico breathed a sigh of intense satisfaction. I noticed the look on Pat's face. She looked as if I had slapped her. She turned away. Teresa Jordan put a comforting arm around her shoulders.

Pancho lifted me up, and it took both him and Rodriguez to help me to the car.

WE stopped at the police station and got Chief Humbert and another policeman who followed us to the hotel in the police car. Foster, the room clerk, stared open-mouthed as we entered and Chief Humbert said:

"All right, Dorsam, where have you got the stuff?"

"Get me the bartender." Humbert went into the taproom and brought out the startled bartender.

"What do you want with Heber?" the chief asked.

"Heber," I asked, having heard his name for the first time, "where did you take Lee Norton when you dragged him out of the taproom?"

"What's Norton got to do with the diamonds?" Dominico demanded.

"Plenty."

The bartender answered slowly. "Why, I took Norton up to a room, like I always do when he passes out. No. 22. He's still there, I suppose. He had a dilly to sleep off."

I turned to Humbert. "Let's go up to No. 22."

• Q's and A's

Q—Why is sloe gin so called?

A—Sloe is the name of a kind of prune (plum). Its color is a bluish or purplish black. Sloe gin is so called because it takes its flavor and color from the sloe, and not from juniper berries, as is the case with ordinary gin.

Q—Is it just the female wasp that stings you?

A—Yes, practically all female and worker wasps have that ability. The male wasps do not sting.

Q—What is outstanding about Trail Ridge Road in Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado?

A—Its four-mile section over 12,000 feet in altitude in probably the longest stretch of road ever built at such a height.

Q—What is the legend of the Lorelei Rock?

A—Lorelei Rock, on the Rhine, was supposed to have been the haunt of a siren whose voice lured fishermen to their death.

What's RIGHT?

While ill in a hospital a member of your family receives flowers from numerous friends but is, of course, not able to acknowledge them.

WRONG: Let the matter go indefinitely.

RIGHT: If there is someone who has the time to write notes or telephone friends that the flowers have been received, the matter should be taken care of.

You are a teen-ager and a friend of your mother's comes to call.

WRONG: Stay splawled out in the living room when she enters.

RIGHT: Stand up to greet her and see that she is seated before sitting down again yourself.

H-Bombs SomeTimes Are Called Atomic Fish

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 15—(AP)—Hydrogen bombs are sometimes called atomic fish, while atom bombs are atomic matches.

The atomic fish are the particles which form all atoms. There are only three particles—neutrons, protons and electrons. Two or more of them gea together to form any atom.

Why are they like fish? Because they change weight, like fish in or out of water. A fisherman never weighs his catch under water, where the buoyance would cut the weight.

The three atomic particles act just like the fish. They weigh less when they enter the nucleus of an atom than when they are outside. In this loss only the neutrons and protons count because electrons have almost no weight.

The loss of mass when these particles join up in atoms makes the H-bomb. Hydrogen has fewer of these particles than helium. The mass they lose in forming helium turns mostly into heat. This heat may be hotted even than the center of stars.

The reason for the lost atomic mass is not buoyancy. The mass is given up by the newcomer particle because he doesn't need it. His loss is replaced by a force inside the atomic nucleus, which grabs the new particles and holds them tight.

The situation is like a man out at night with a lantern, returning to an electric lighted house. When he enters he leaves the lantern outside. Electricity does the inside lighting.

The atomic nucleus is the house. The lantern is the heat that makes the H-bomb. The "inner light" is a mysterious force, a binding energy which seems to be the most powerful thing in the universe. This force exists only inside atomic nuclei.

Fusion requires protons to enter the atomic nucleus. This is difficult because protons all carry similar electric charges. They repel each other. Two as close as they must be inside an atom repel each other with a force of about forty pounds.

Heat Provides Speed

So it is evident that a proton has to be traveling at terrific speed to pass through this resistance. That is why fusion won't start until the temperature is a million or more degrees. The heat gives the protons the speed needed to enter nuclei.

To start the fusion it is only necessary to pack the heavy forms of hydrogen around an A-bomb, whose initial temperatures reach a hundred million degrees.

The next step is the great puzzle. How to keep the hydrogen atoms from being blown apart by the A-bomb before they have to fuse. To do this they must be packed inside some sort of case. There is nothing in creation that will not instantly vaporize in atom bomb heat.

The problem is like trying to make a gun with a trigger and powder, but no barrel. The A-bomb is the trigger. The hydrogen is the powder. There just isn't any barrel.

The solution may lie in delaying the melting of the bomb case for even a few billionths of a second, an interval that may permit the fast-acting forms of heavy hydrogen, deuterium and tritium, to fuse into helium.

Only the lightest-weight elements can be used for fusion. Even in the sun no process is known for fusing anything except hydrogen.

The A-bomb is like a match because it is started with hardly any heat. It is started by neutrons, which split atoms. These neutrons have no electrical charges. Hence they can enter atoms without hinderance. Neutrons as cool as the room in which you read this can and do split atoms.

These facts limit nuclear bombs to two types, A and H. No others are in sight. In fact competent scientists figure there may never be any others.

There is a definite limit to the power of an A-Bomb. But there is no apparent limit to an H-bomb.

French Police Open Jewel Investigation

NICE, France, Aug. 16—(AP)—Police today detained Modiste Elsa Schiaparelli and questioned her for hours about some jewels she had reported stolen. She was released tonight and police said no charges would be placed against her, but that they would confiscate $1,485 in U. S. currency.

One of the world's leading designers of women's clothing, Schiaparelli was stopped by police as she was about to board a plane for Tunis. She reported on Aug. 6 that jewels worth 3,000,000 francs (about $8,500) had been stolen from her. Police said some of these jewels were found in her luggage today.

Police said they found the $1,485 while searching her baggage.

The 53-year-old fashion leader told newsmen that she had found in the bottom of a bureau drawer three of four pieces of jewelry she had reported stolen, but that the most valuable piece actually was stolen.

"When I found the jewels," she said, "it seemed unnecessary to notify the police because the most important piece was still missing."

Gas And Water Erupt Near Ringwood, Okla.

RINGWOOD, Okla., Aug. 16—(AP)—A short strip of land near here is erupting gas and water.

And Harve Gauley, who owns the 100-feet long by 50-feet wide piece of property, doesn't know what to do.

The small geysers went into action after the second one stopped.

A myriad of miniature geysers cover the area, with gas and water—but mostly gas—pushing 10 or 12 feet skyward.

eruptions on Gauley's property this month. A water well blew its top Aug. 5, but cement poured into the well stopped that one.

Then an abandoned oil well test hole began gushing water and gas, which became ignited.

One Of The Greatest Blessings Of The Times!
OFFERS NEW HOPE TO MEN, WOMEN OVER 50
This Great New HADACOL Relieves the REAL CAUSE of Neuritis Pains, Stomach Distress, Indigestion, Nervous Disorders, Constipation and a Weakened Condition When Due to Lack of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin in the System

Just a Few of Thousands of Joyful Folks* Over 50 With Such Deficiencies Who Have Been Helped

55 YEARS OLD
Mr. Claude Sutton, 55 years old, foreman of a mine in Detonti, Arkansas: "I am writing this statement of my own free will, with the sole intention of helping some poor man or woman in a run-down condition as I was before I found out about HADACOL. My work is strenuous on my nerves. I did not think I would be able to continue on with my job; I was so nervous I could not stand anything and could not sleep at night. So one day I read about HADACOL. Well I thought I would give it a try. I had tried everything else and it didn't help, so I thought another dollar and a half would be wasted, but on taking my first bottle I began to feel better, so I kept on taking it. I have taken HADACOL for 3 months now, and I feel like a new man. I sleep all night without waking, am not nervous any more, and life feels worth living."

69 YEARS OLD
Mrs. Addie Myers, 69 years old, 714 N. 8th Street, Wilmington, North Carolina: "I am writing to tell you how much HADACOL has done for me. I have been sick for some time with neuritis pain. Almost helpless. I have taken almost 4 bottles of HADACOL. I am so much better; I can walk without dragging my feet. My neuritis pains are so much better, I recommend HADACOL to anyone that suffers from such aches and pains."

61 YEARS OLD
Lizzie Pruitt, 61 years old, of Rt. 2, Box 158, Lexa, Arkansas: "I have been affected with gas and bad stomach disturbance for quite some time. I complained about my trouble to one of your HADACOL users and she told me it would help me so I got a bottle. Now I am on my second bottle and I can right now eat the things I would not dare touch for they would choke and fill me in the throat. May God bless you for this wonderful relief."

58 YEARS OLD
Mrs. S. C. Sanders, 58 years old, of 1604 W. Market Street, Anderson, South Carolina: "I just want to tell you how much HADACOL has helped me and my little grandson. I am 58 years old and he is 9 years old. I felt so weak and run-down I just couldn't stay up long enough to do my housework. But now since I took 2 bottles of HADACOL I feel like a new person. My little grandson didn't have any energy at all for anything. He didn't want to go to school—I had to make him go. And now he loves to go and I don't have to make him study any more. I can recommend HADACOL as a wonderful product, a blessing to the human race."

57 YEARS OLD
John T. Hopkins, 57 years old, cab driver of 615 Augusta St., Greenville, South Carolina: "I am 57 years old. I am a cab driver — have been driving a cab for the past 14 years, and I suffered a lot with my stomach and neuritis pains in my back. Everything I ate and drank hurt me. My back ached all the time, day and night. I have tried many different kinds of medicine, but none gave me any relief. Then I heard about HADACOL. I decided to give it a try. I am on my second bottle now and believe me my aches and stomach distress are gone already. I can eat anything I want and don't suffer. I feel the best I have felt in 20 years. I will gladly recommend HADACOL to anyone suffering with my ailments. This is a true statement."

62 YEARS OLD
C. B. Sutherland, Route 1, Box 62, Callahan, Florida: "I just got my fifth bottle of HADACOL and I can say it's done me more good than anything I ever took. I lost my appetite and could not do any kind of light work and I didn't get any relief. I heard of HADACOL and started to take it and now I eat anything and I work all day. Thanks to HADACOL. (I am a retired railroad storekeeper.)"

60 YEARS OLD
Mrs. M. E. Davis, Route 3, Box 459, Pensacola, Florida, wants to tell this to victims of stomach distress. "I had indigestion so bad I couldn't eat anything but soft diet for 6 weeks. I also suffered with neuritis pains in my wrist and fingers. My daughter told me how much HADACOL did for her son so I decided to try it. I've taken 8 bottles and I know it's a godsend. My neuritis pains have almost disappeared. I'm 60 years old, and can walk two miles to church without being tired out."

58 YEARS OLD
Mrs. B. R. Johnson, 58 years old, of Rt. 1, Bankston, Alabama: "I have suffered with my stomach and neuritis pains for some time. I would have cramping spells in my stomach and almost smother. So I took HADACOL and I'm not bothered with my stomach. I have taken 5 bottles and can eat anything I want and do my work. I can recommend HADACOL to anyone who is run-down, and bothered with stomach distress."

58 YEARS OLD
Lucy Hollinsworth, Shirley, Missouri, writes her HADACOL friends: "I am 55 years old and have been sick for quite some time. I was weak, nervous and had neuritis aches and pains all over. I have taken one bottle of HADACOL and it sure has helped me. All my aches and pains are gone. I feel much better and am much stronger. I sure recommend HADACOL."

86 YEARS OLD
Mr. Larry Wadkins, 86 years old, of 76 So. Royal St., Mobile, Alabama: "I had been sickly for ever so long, before trying your wonderful HADACOL. I am now 86 years of age and am feeling fit as fiddle after taking only 6 bottles of your wonderful product. For anyone suffering from lack of pep and vitality I will surely endorse your product as the one that will pick you up. I have tried many so-called remedies and none of them have ever come near to your product."

65 YEARS OLD
Edward Brumit, Esq., 65 years old, of Rt. 2, Piney Flats, Tennessee: "I want to thank you for your wonderful product HADACOL. My oldest daughter, before she took HADACOL, missed 31 days of school because she felt so weak and had no appetite. We tried every medicine we knew of but nothing has helped her like HADACOL and believe me she isn't the only one who has benefited from HADACOL, all of my family has benefited from it. At first I tried the small size bottle but now I get the large economy size. I almost believe you put a little magic in each bottle. I am 65 years old."

57 YEARS OLD
Eugenie Lemons, 57 years old, of 311 W. 3rd St., Anniston, Alabama: "I have taken 8 bottles of HADACOL. Believe it has done me a lot of good, and I am still taking it. I was troubled with neuritis pains in my right leg. Have been on crutches. Can walk without them some, now. Will be 57 years old on Dec. 18."

Rules In Estate Of A. E. Brockman

In the estate of A. E. Brockman who died several weeks ago, Judge A. M. Harlan, of the probate court, has made to decisions on hearings which were recently held regarding the estate.

In one petition to discover the assets of the estate, Judge Harlan found after hearing evidence produced by Mildred Shelledy, to whom Brockman had married while having a wife in California, that some of the property she had removed from the Brockman residence, 1822 South Ingram avenue, was hers. The exceptions were in regards to two chairs, two old setees, one old table, one dining room table and a small rocking chair which are to be returned to Mrs. Anna Brockman, stepmother of the deceased.

The second petition on a claim filed in the estate by Mildred Shelledy was for $3,280 which she declared she had loaned to the late A. E. Brockman to be used in his business. The court found for the plaintiff in this claim.

offensive against the Changnyong bridgehead met heavy Red artillery and mortar fire.

The devil dogs had heavy casualties. Red snipers slipped down the hill and fired on stretcher bearers. Regular stretcher bearers had to be supplemented with South Koreans.

Marine reinforcements streamed into action as marine and air force fighters smashed at the smoke-wreathed top of the cliff.

Brig. Gen. Edward Craig, the leatherneck commander, said "This is stiffer than I thought it would be but I think we will be able to move ahead."

The hill commands a good slice of the six by seven mile bridgehead.

The U. S. 24th Infantry division which has been trying for 12 days to eliminate the growing bridgehead held the ridge to the north. It, too, went into action soon after the marines charged.

MacArthur's headquarters had not yet assessed the results of the massive B-29 attack Wednesday on the 25-mile area west of the Naktong river where 60,000 Red troops were estimated to have gathered.

Navy pilots reported the destruction or damage of 34 tanks in new sweeps. Fifth Air Force pilots said they damaged eight tanks in ground support attacks. U. S. airmen were using a new 6½-inch tank killer rocket that had been rushed into production only four weeks ago.

income before computing income taxes.

Under present tax law, normal depreciation for such facilities might take 20 years or more.

Idea of Special Treatment

The idea of the special tax treatment is to encourage industry to get quickly into the business of producing whatever the armed forces need.

Emergency amortization would apply to facilities, land, buildings, machinery or equipment, or any part thereof, the construction, erection, installation or acquisition of which was completed after December 31, 1949 and which was certified as necessary for the national defense during the emergency.

President Truman would have authority to appoint the certifying authority. In World War II the War Production Board was the certifying authority.

The committee also worked out special corporation tax rates for 1950 income. It said that on all of 1950 corporation income, the tax rates will be:

On the first $25,000 of income—23 percent; on all over $25,000—42 percent.

Call Strikes On Short Roads

employed in yard service want a 40-hour work week without any cut in the pay they now get for 48 hours work.

For the members engaged in train service, the unions ask adjustments in wages to lessen the difference between their pay and that of engineers and firemen.

The walkouts they have ordered are in effect "token" strikes aimed at getting their demands without a nationwide strike.

The unions said they will seek separate settlements with the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern and the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroads—in the event that efforts to settle the dispute on a national basis get nowhere.

White House conferences with the unions and carriers looking to a national settlement were broken off Tuesday. John R. Steelman, assistant to the president, has said they will be resumed if a basis can be found for a line of negotiations that might prove fruitful.

Falls 150 Feet And Only Gets Wet

SAN PEDRO, Calif.—(AP)—Fred Ferrell was strolling along a cliff-top at the edge of Pt. Fermin Park, which faces are Pacific Ocean. He slipped on a round stone and plunged over the sheer 150-foot drop, headed for water-washed, jagged rocks below.

He lit in water two feet deep between two boulders. A life guard pulled him out. At the receiving hospital doctors found only two small head cuts. They sent him home—to get out of those wet clothes.

Chiefs Have Strong Lead In League

Defeat Mexico In Doubleheader 9-1 And 5-2 Wednesday

The Sedalia Ban Johnson Chiefs with an extra day of rest from a postponed game Tuesday jumped into a strong lead in the southern division of the Ban Johnson league by defeating Mexico 9-1 and 5-2 Thursday night at the Liberty Park ball diamond.

In the first game the Ramblers scored their lone run in the second inning all on the efforts of two men, Van Ness, who singled, stole second, went to third on a bad throw by the catcher and scored on a sacrifice by Gallop.

Third Inning Rally

The Chiefs scored their nine tallies in two innings, the first runs coming in the third. In that frame Imhauser doubled after the center fielder dropped his fly, Barbour singled scoring Imhauser and went to second on a play at the plate. Egbert who had his best night in the bat box got a single scoring Barbour and was followed by Walker who got on base on a fielder's choice which failed to get the man at second. Shawver the next man up took first on a fielder's choice at the same time forcing Walker at second and sending Egbert to third. Dillard walked and the bases were loaded. Waters with the sacks full singled scoring Egbert and Shawver and was followed by Lumpe, who singled scoring Dillard.

Four more tallies for the Chiefs came in the sixth inning for the last runs of the game. Barbour doubled, Egbert singled to score him. Walker doubled to score Egbert and Shawver tripled to score Walker and then scored himself on a wild pitch.

In the first game the hits, runs and errors were:

Sedalia: 9 runs, 10 hits, 3 errors.

Mexico: 1 run, 3 hits, 3 errors.

Chiefs Take Second

The second game saw Mexico make only one more tally than they had been able to yield in the first game, the other run coming in the fourth. The first run came again in the second inning as it did in the other game. Mike Sullivan singled stole second and went to third on an infield out by Van Ness. He scored on a passed ball.

The last score for Mexico came in the fourth and the scoring was again initiated by Sullivan, who singled, stole second and third and then scored on Gallop's single.

The Chiefs scored one run in their half of the first frame on a single by Walker, a sacrifice by Morgan, and a double by Waters which scored Walker.

The local boys again scored only one run in the second inning this time on a double by Nold who went to third on an error by the short stop and then scored on a steal after Rapp who previously walked got caught in a hot box.

Two more runs were tallied in the third on a walk by Morgan and Dillard. Morgan went to third on a wild pitch after having taken second on an overthrow on a play for him at first. Dillard then stole second and both scored on Lumpe's single.

3 Score in Sixth

The final score of the game came in the sixth inning. Lumpe lead off with a single and was followed to the bases by Shawver who took first on a fielder's choice and then went to second after the second baseman dropped the ball. Shawver then scored when on a play by Neisert the pitcher the ball was thrown to the center field from second base.

Hits, runs and errors in this game were:

Sedalia: 5 runs, 7 hits and no errors.

Mexico: 2 runs, 5 hits and 5 errors.

The officials for both games were Thomas and Nichols.

The Chiefs will play the Moberly Miners here tonight in a night game starting at 8:15 o'clock.

The Sunday game has been scheduled with Mexico at Mexico.

. . . And He Went Seven Rounds More

Freddie Beshore's tongue hangs out and blood streams from his nose and facial cuts as Ezzard Charles, National Boxing Association heavyweight champion, bounces a right off his jaw in the seventh round of their title bout at Buffalo, N. Y. Despite his appearance, the Harrisburg, Pa., challenger went seven rounds more before the referee stopped the fight with seven seconds to go in the 14th round. Charles is tentatively scheduled to fight the combacking Joe Louis in New York late next month. (AP WIREPHOTO)

DiMaggio To Be Back With The Yankees

Stengel States New York Has A Pennant Chance

By Joe Ives

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—Manger Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees says he plans to return Joe DiMaggio to the starting lineup tomorrow night in Philadelphia against the Athletics.

"If Joe gets hot and gives me about 38 runs batted in in two weeks we could win the pennant," Stengel added last night. "Of course, a little pitching would help, too."

The 35-year-old Clipper was benched last Friday against the A's for the first time in his brilliant career. Previously he had been out of the world champions' lineup due to injuries but never for light hitting.

"Joe was playing with a bad shoulder and a bad knee," Casey declared. "He needed rest and I think he realizes it. I asked him how he felt yesterday and he said 'I'm still tired.'"

"I hate to see him even work out. Lord knows he knows how to play this game, so he doesn't need practice. Yet he still might pick up and take us places."

Whether Joe realizes he needed the rest remains a secret. He said he had his share of "aches and pains" when he was taken out, but he never passed judgment on the move. All the Clipper would say yesterday when asked about his enforced rest is: "I'm ready to go anytime and I'll be happy to get back in there."

Despite his .270 batting average, Joltin' Joe benefits the Yanks more in the lineup than any replacement Stengel scares up.

Before he was given his enforced rest he had collected 197 total bases on 99 hits in 367 times at bat. That's more total bases than anybody else on the team had compiled up to that time.

Since then, however, Yogi Berra has passed the Clipper with 199.

Stengel first attempted to replace Joe with Cliff Mapes in centerfield but that didn't work out with Mapes hitting only .248. Then, he moved Gene Woodling from left to center and put Jackie Jensen in left field but Jensen has been hitting only .122.

"I thought of putting Joe in left and leaving Woodling in center," Casey said, "but then I decided to put him back in his old position. There's been a terrific slump in attendance since he's been out."

Three Homers Put a Crimp In Cardinals

Redbirds Lose 5 to 3 to the Last Place Pirates

By the Associated Press

The sinking St. Louis Cardinals, headed straight toward the second division, opened a 15-game home stand at Sportsman's park last night but were unable to pull out of their power dive.

The last-place Pittsburgh Pirates beat them 5-3 before 12,134 sad spectators. It was the fourth straight defeat for the Redbirds, who now find themselves only one game in front of the fifth-place New York Giants.

Cloyd Boyer served up three home run balls, including Ralph Kiner's 34th of the season which came with a man on in the third. Tom Saffel, who just rejoined the Pirates from Indianapolis, and former Cardinal Johnny Hopp hit successive homers in the fifth, knocking out Boyer.

The only two long Cardinal hits of the night were by Stan Musial, who keeps sailing along at a good clip despite the club's slump. Musial tripled home the first Cardinal run in the seventh to aid in scoring another.

Vernon Law, the recruit right-hander, was credited with the victory although he was relieved in the sixth by ex-Cardinal Murry Dickson.

The Browns started their trip to the east on a sour note, losing a twi-night doubleheader to Cleveland 2-0 and 2-1.

In the opener the Browns were handcuffed by Jess Flores, who yielded only four hits. The club showed slight improvement in the nightcap, getting five hits off Mike Garcia.

It took a ninth-inning single with two out by Manager Lou Boudreau to score Ray Murray with the winning run in the second game.

The Browns used only two pitchers, Al Widmar and Don Johnson. Each allowed nine hits.

The Flyers is composed of players between the ages of 15 and 20, and have been playing hard ball all summer. Their battery for tonight has not been definitely decided upon.

Trout Explains Why He's Called 'Dizzy'

DETROIT, Aug. 17—(AP)—Why Paul (Dizzy) Trout should have the handle "Dizzy" has not been understandable to some devoted Detroit Tiger fans.

A group has petitioned writers and broadcasters to avoid use of the name, especially in view of Trout's recent record.

Nothing is likely to come of that. Good-humored old Diz has been "Dizzy" here ever since his clown days as a youngster in the Tiger camp years ago.

However, Sports Editor Lyall Smith of the Detroit Free Press, quoting Trout, today reported the name's origin, at least.

Dizzy got it, 'tis said, when he played for Terre Haute in 1935.

"I got it the day I ran under an awning out in left field when it started to rain," Trout is quoted. "When they revived me, I discovered the awning was just an 'ad' painted on the brick fence. I've been 'Dizzy' ever since."

Robinson Laments On Career

Says He Has Hunch That This Is His Last Year As Dodger

By Joe Reichler

NEW YORK, Aug. 17—(AP)—Jackie Robinson has a hunch he is playing his last season as a Brooklyn Dodger.

The star second baseman's hunch, however, is not shared by his boss, club president Branch Rickey.

"It wouldn't surprise me if I were traded at the end of the year," the National League's most valuable player of 1949 said today.

"I haven't given a thought to trading Robinson or anyone else on the ball club," says Rickey.

31 Years Old

Robinson pointed out he is 31 years old and has slowed up a step in the field. He also feels he may have outlived his usefulness with the Dodgers.

Robinson made known his hunch today amidst rumors of mounting tension on the Dodger team—a club that won the pennant last season, was favored to repeat but now finds itself a half dozen games off the pace.

Rickey already has publicly criticized the "comylacency" of the team.

"Actually, I have no idea whether they intend to trade me or not," Jackie said. "However, I'm prepared for anything that may happen. After all, I'm pretty old as far as players go."

Rickey Sympathizes

"I sympathize with Robinson," Rickey said when informed of Jackie's statements. "The boy probably is concerned over what has happened in recent games.

"Of course, that doesn't mean that Robinson can't be had for any price. If I were offered two ball clubs for him, I would consider trading Jackie."

Robinson is in a batting slump which has cost him the National League lead.

Redskins Win 17-4 on Rams

Charity Game Has An Attendance Of 90,135 Fans

By Franklin K. Arthur

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17—(AP)—Washington's Redskins and Los Angeles' Rams turned each other's miscues into scores last night, and the Redskins won 17-14.

The season's opener, a charity-exhibition, drew a Memorial Coliseum turnout of 90,135 fans—claimed by the sponsoring Los Angeles Times as a new professional attendance record.

Bob Waterfield, veteran field general of the Rams, sent the Redskins off into the lead by fumbling on his own nine-yard line two minutes after the game started. Sammy Baugh passed to Bill Dudley for a touchdown on the next play.

In the next quarter, Baugh bobbled a pass from center deep in his own territory, then tried to toss to George Thomas before he was snowed under. Fleet George Sims of the Rams cut in, took the ball on the 25 and crossed the goal untouched. Waterfield converted.

Dudley put the easterners ahead again with a 32-yard field goal later in the quarter, after a 48-yard Redskins drive bogged down.

The Redskins at the opening of the third quarter drove 70 yards in 14 plays, then Harry Gilmer let loose a pass to Eddie Saenz near the goal. The Rams' Woodley Lewis knocked it down, but interference was ruled on the one-yard line. Rob Goode went over on the next play and Dudley converted again.

The Rams made their last tally on a strange play. Norm Van Brocklin passed to Bob Boyd on the 15. Boyd went five yards and dropped the ball when tackled. Washington recovered, but the officials ruled Van Brocklin was roughed. The 15-yard penalty took the ball to the seven, and Tommy Kalmanir galloped across on the next play, Waterfield converting again.

Glenn Davis, Army's one-time Mr. Cutside, making his pro debut, averaged only 2.83 yards in six times with the ball. The Redskins kept Eddie LeBaron, star of the All-Star game in Chicago, on the sidelines most of the time. His kicking averaged 43 yards, but he tried only one offensive play—a pass that was intercepted.

Phillies Whiz On Toward Pennant

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17—(AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies are fast making a mockery of the National League pennant race.

Manager Eddie Sawyer's "Whiz Kids" are seven games ahead of the field today. And they have been increasing their lead the hard way, beating the challengers.

At the rate the flag hungry Phils are travelling they could win the senior circuit championship by the biggest margin since 1944 when the St. Louis Cardinals won by 14½ games.

In the past two weeks, the Phillies have won nine of 13 games with the four teams directly behind them. The log looks like this:

Won three of five from St. Louis; two of two from Brooklyn; two of four from New York, and two of two from the Boston Braves.

He Carves Out a Hobby

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — By day, Peter Zeolla fashions fireplaces of marble for the homes of the wealthy. By night the 52-year-old stone cutter relaxes with a hobby — chipping stone.

His idea of resting is to fetch his tools and chisel delicate designs on a rough slab of marble or onyx. Handmade ash trays, book ends and lamp stands are his specialty. His latest creation, a scale model of a C-47 twin-engined transport plane fashioned out of brittle onyx — even to the wings. It took him two months to complete.

Johnson Asks For Training Legislation

Measure Proposes A National Security Advisory Board

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson Wednesday urged immediate universal military training legislawhenever the President may direct.

the President may direct.

The proposal came in a letter from Johnson to the chairmen of the Senate and House armed services committees.

Johnson said in his letter that the bill he proposed had the approval of President Truman.

It would provide for compulsory military training of young men between the ages of 17 and 20 and establish an independent commission to direct the program.

Answerable To President

This "national security training commission" would be appointed by an answerable to the President.

The measure also proposes a national security training advisory board to be composed largely of civilians who would serve with at leats three military members.

The Johnson bill would establish a national security training corps, consisting of all young men to be trained. Members of this corps would have military status, but would not be members of the armed forces and would be subject to no duty other than training.

The training period would be divided into phases. The first six months would be "continuous" training. In this period the trainee would choose his branch of the service within the limits of quotas.

Have 11 Options

After the basic training period, the young man would have 11 options. He could chose additional training on active duty with the corps for six months. Other choices available to him would be: Voluntary enlistment in the regular armed forces, enlistment in the national guard, organized naval reserve, or organized marine corps reserve.

He could also choose to join the enlisted reserve corps of the army or air force and be assigned to an organized unit.

Subject to his qualifications, the corps member could enter the military, naval or coast guard academies or enroll in the navy or marine corps officer procurement program.

Another choice open to him would be entering college and joining a reserve officers training corps unit.

The trainee would receive a monthly allowance of $30. If he was the chief support of his family he would be allowed $50 a month more for one dependent and $65 for two or more dependents.

Declare Hitler Lost Stalingrad Battle Due Lack of Warm Cothing

By Jack Anderson and Fred Blumenthal

(Written for Merry-Go-Round)

The reason Hitler lost the battle of Stalingrad was because Nazi troops lacked protective woolen clothing to continue the sub-zero siege. Many froze to death before the German retreat. However, this historic lesson has been lost on our own munitions board, which has been even more remiss in stockpiling wool for the war effort than in building reserves of vital manganese. As a result, we are desperately short of wool for uniforms, overcoats, socks, blankets, etc., to carry on a prolonged war.

That is why the state department today is trying frantically to make a sub-rosa deal, through the British government, for the purchase of the 1950 Australian wool crop before the international auctions late this month. The reason is to head off the Russians, who are preparing to outbid us in the Australian market by offering sky-high prices.

The painful story behind all this is that the quartermaster corps and members of congress have been pleading for more than a year with the munitions board to begin the stockpiling wool.

"Time Is Short

Col. Frank M. Stedman of the quartermaster corps in a letter to the board last April 13, warned that "time is short" and that supplies of apparel wool were the lowest since 1940. Again on July 25, a month after the Korean war started, the quartermasters reported that domestic wool stocks were "sufficient only to keep mills in operation until November 1, 1950," adding:

"All existing stocks are reported to be contracted for by clothing manufacturers, so that only a freeze order would make them available for military requirements."

Sen. Lester Hunt of Wyoming, chairman of an armed services sub-committee set up to investigate scarce materials, also has been unable to prod the munitions brass hats into auction—after repeated warnings.

Though Hunt and his colleague, Joe O'Mahoney, represent the biggest wool-producing state in the nation, they have unselfishly urged the munitions board to begin large-scale purchases in foreign markets.

Note—One of those chiefly responsible for the munitions board "wool" policy is Maj. Gen. Patrick W. Timberlake.

St. Louis Auto Theft Ring Apprehended

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17—(AP)—An attempt to sell new automobile transmissions for as little as $15 each was the break St. Louis police needed to smash an auto theft ring here.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Joseph Walsh said police got a tip from a legitimate automobile dealer that he had been offered the transmissions.

Seven St. Louisians have been arrested. Fugitive warrants have been issued for two others.

Walsh said the men stole late model cars, replaced the motors and transmission with those taken from salvaged machines, then sold the cars. He said the profits were more than $10,000 for the group.

Lightning Bolts Kill Five And Injure Two

DECATUR, Ala., Aug. 17—(AP)—Thunderstorms in Alabama Tuesday hurled lightning bolts that killed five persons and injured two others.

Even the shelter of a storm cellar and a metal-roofed car shed failed to protect the victims from the powerful charges.

Killed were:

John Harris, 74, Hartselle, route 2, and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Goldman Harris, 43.

Colonel Green, 40, and Johnny McGuire, 15, woodcutters killed at Brilliant.

Eldridge Fikes, 62-year old farmer, killed near Greensboro.

The Harris family had taken shelter in a storm cellar of Mrs. Harris' home near Hartselle.

Green and McGuire were cutting wood with a tractor when the thunderstorm broke.

Fikes fled beneath a car shed from a field where he had been gathering fodder as the rain began falling.

Mrs. Ann Poling, 609 Delaware St., Indianapolis, Indiana, who was suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin, smiles as she pours herself another cup of coffee. Mrs. Poling says life lately is like it used to be years ago . . . "that is, of course, since I've been taking HADACOL." She can't get over what a difference HADACOL has made in her outlook on life.

Mrs. Poling says: "Three months ago a good friend of mine told me about HADACOL—she knew how much stomach distress I have had. Any type of food that was fried or that had acid in it I just couldn't eat. It affected my sleep, too. In fact, I couldn't have been in a worse condition. When I ate what I wanted to I felt miserable and when I didn't eat these things—I didn't have a proper diet and still felt bad. Then, when I started taking HADACOL, I felt better immediately. I've got a bottle in the house now—and will continue to keep HADACOL from now on. I have told many folks about HADACOL—and they all thank me for telling them about HADACOL. They all have gotten wonderful results from HADACOL like I have. Now I eat anything I want and get a good night's sleep. I can't praise HADACOL enough."

HADACOL Can Help You, Too! . . . as it has helped thousands of others whose systems lacked Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin. Yes, even hundreds of doctors have recommended HADACOL to their patients. The HADACOL formula is so effective for stomache distress, nervousness, insomnia, constipation, aches and pains of neuritis, and a general run-down condition caused by such deficiencies.

Make Up Your Mind . . . to give HADACOL a chance to help you, as it has helped countless thousands of others. Remember, there are no substitutes for HADACOL. Always insist on the genuine HADACOL. No risk involved. Buy a bottle of HADACOL, either the trial size, $1.19 or the large family or hospital size, $2.39 and if HADACOL does not help you your money will be refunded.

Jimmy's Blessed Event Goes up in Smoke (s)

By NEA Service

PATCHOGUE, N. Y. — Jimmy Morge is only five years old, but somebody sent him 1000 cigars. And Jimmy's father and mother think that's very nice.

Not that Jimmy smokes cigars. It's all on account of the kitten Jimmy brought home. And partly on account of Jimmy's cousin having a baby.

To begin with, Jimmy brought a stray kitten home six months ago. His mother let him keep the pet, if he took care of him (or her — they didn't know which). Jimmy did. His ice cream money went for cat food. And he named the kitten Starlight, a nice neuter name.

They lived happily almost ever after—Jimmy, Starlight and his mom and dad. Jimmy's father is a Patchogue policeman.

One day, Jimmy's cousin rushed into the house. He'd just had a baby and happily passed out cigars to Jimmy's father. That scene of the proud papa giving away cigars made a tremendous impression on Jimmy.

So when Starlight — which proved itself to be a female feline — gave birth to two kittens, Jimmy was well versed in the social obligations of a new father. He raided his dad's cigar box and began passing them out to anybody and everybody — the delicatessen man, the milk man, the shoe salesman, the man in the candy store.

Patrolman Morge came home to find his humidor was bare. But Jimmy had only done what was right when a man becomes a father. So Patrolman Morge and his wife just laughed.

It was then that the National Association of Tobacco Distributors heard about Jimmy, Starlight and the cigars. They sent the five-year-old 1000 cigars. Jimmy turned them over to his father to replenish his supply.

All except a few. There were some people he'd skipped.

Jimmy Morge: He knew what was expected of a new father.

Zoo Move Ends U. N. Headache

JERUSALEM—(AP)—One headache less for UN observers in Palestine: The Jerusalem Zoo will leave the UN controlled territory on Mt. Scopus, to the east of the city, within the next few weeks.

Established with the help of Jewish animal lovers ten years ago, the zoo moved into Hebrew University neighborhood on Mt. Scopus from the modern part of the city at the end of 1947—just before the sudden outbreak of the Arab-Jewish war. It is now going back again to the Israel part of the town.

FAVORITE SPAGHETTI

LADLE rich tomato-flavored meat sauce studded with plump button mushrooms over steaming elbow spaghetti and you have an appetizing way to make your meat-money do its best job.

Spaghetti with meat sauce is a favorite dish any time but it will get a royal welcome from hungry youngsters home from their first busy day at school. The good protein in the meat and durum wheat makes this platter supper nourishing as well as good tasting and thrifty.

For a six o'clock supper you need not begin preparations before five o'clock. The first thing to do is to start the meat sauce. Then it has time for that slow simmering which gives it its rich flavor. Let it simmer about 45 minutes or until it is the thickness you like. The spaghetti will only take about 12 minutes to cook tender so you can put it on to cook about 5:45. If the spaghetti cools before you get the family to the table, run hot water through it just before serving.

While the sauce is cooking, make the other supper preparations. A giant tossed salad is a must. You are unlimited as to what goes into it. Raid the garden for any last-of-the-season vegetables. Scarlet tomato wedges, crisp green pepper rings, thin radish slices, chopped tiny green onions (tops and all), carrot curls and lots of crisp leaf or head lettuce,—any or all of these are good together. Accompany your spaghetti and meat sauce and tossed salad with salty bread sticks and crusty enriched rolls.

FAVORITE SPAGHETTI

- 4 ounces long spaghetti
- 2 tablespoons cooking oil or bacon drippings
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, sliced
- ½ pound ground beef
- 2½ cups cooked tomatoes (1 No. 2 can)
- 1 cup tomato sauce (1 8-ounce can)
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- ¼ cup mushrooms, if desired
- ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender (about 12 minutes). Drain and rinse. While spaghetti is cooking, heat oil in skillet. Add parsley, onion, and garlic and brown lightly. Add beef and cook until browned. Add tomatoes, tomato sauce, Worcestershire sauce and mushrooms. Cover and cook slowly until thick, about 45 minutes. Arrange spaghetti on hot platter and pour sauce over. Sprinkle lightly with grated Parmesan cheese.

Makes 4 servings.

Lying Down on the Job Is Perfectly OK Here

PLEASANT DREAMS of a nice job in bed—which she already has—are in store for GE blanket-tester Frances Greene. Thermocouples stuck to her body record her temperature.

By NEA Service

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — (NEA) —If word of this gets around, some unions will be demanding pillow-to-pillow pay. For there are a few lucky workers at General Electric's plant here who don't start to work until they fall asleep.

They spend an eight-hour day in bed. And on a comfortable bed with luxurious bedclothes and in an air-conditioned room, to boot. If they wake up, they get a bawling out. They've got to sleep for eight hours. It's a tough life.

They're GE's blanket testers, giving the automatic blankets a thorough dose of scientific research. The men who design the new blankets feel the best way to test them is to try them out spread over actual sleepers.

"We have conducted hundreds of tests, almost all of them on volunteers from the laboratory and office force," says Robert Sambleson, blanket engineering chief.

Volunteers aren't hard to get. But strangely enough, some people find the work too difficult. They can't adjust to sleeping in a laboratory, and become self-conscious. And then they just can't fall asleep. For GE's purposes, insomnia is worse than absenteeism.

The idea of the tests is to see how a person's body temperature reacts under the different electric blankets. So thermocouples—devices which measure body temperature—are attached to 16 places on the test sleeper with adhesive tape. The sleeper's temperature is recorded on a continuous graph as he (or she) snores away.

Some of the blankets tested are the dual control jobs, for double beds and people who like to sleep in different degrees of warmth. Finding two volunteers is harder than one. And they have to be married, of course.

The laboratory keeps a roster of volunteers, with the days they would like to lie down on the job. Most of these requests are for days after holidays. But the subjects are required to live quiet lives for 24 hours before the test. Too much carousing would show up on the recorder and spoil the experiment.

Tests are run in both day and night hours. Which led to the lab's most embarrassing experience.

One male volunteer told his wife that he had to work late at the plant, sleeping through a test. The suspicious wife called up the lab, and asked to speak to the volunteer.

It wasn't her husband. He has since been removed from the list of available sleepers. During night hours, anyway.

To Help Traffic Problem

Congestion of traffic has usually been a serious factor at the Missouri State Fair in Sedalia, especially on the busiest days in the middle of the week, but much of this will be obviated this year by bringing into use of two extra gates not previously used several years. The flow of traffic will be sped up and will move into and out of the grounds more evenly. The Fair will be held August 20-27.

New Sweetener Has No Calories

CHICAGO —(AP)— So you bulge where you want to dip, but you're a complete slave to your sweet tooth. Then a new synthetic sweetener may help you win the battle with your waistline. Abbott Laboratories has started production of a substance called Sucaryl Sodium. It contains no calories or carbohydrates and is designed for the million or more diabeics in America and countless people on weight reducing diets.

Unlike saccharin, another sugar substitute, Sucaryl does not lose its sweetening properties when heated in cooking, baking or canning. Pies, preserves, puddings and canned fruits can be added to low sugar or sugar-free diets.

The Food and Drug Administration has authorized the sale of Sucaryl without prescription. Abbott said exhaustive clinical tests on three generations of rats showed it has no harmful effects. Abbott also said it lacks any bitter aftertaste. However, the company said sodium salts are excreted relatively slowly and persons with severe kidney disorders will be advised to take the synthetic in moderate amounts and under a doctor's supervision. Various research is under way for using the synthetic in canning and baking foods for specialized diets.

Eskimos Have Famous Names

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — (AP) — Such names as George Washington Nagushnak and Woodrow Wilson Nashoalook have become sprinkled through the Eskimo colonies of northern Alaska.

Oliver and his wife took the census over a vast area of northern and western Alaska. Mrs. Oliver, who traveled by dog team and airplane on her census job, found a five-year-old boy named "Mr. Roosevelt."

"We used to listen to President Roosevelt over the radio," the Eskimo father explained.

Outook for Hotter Days

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—(AP)—Department stores here and in some other cities are having trouble moving their stocks of hot-weather clothes.

And peddlers of air-conditioning units report a "marked decline" in sale and rental of artificial "coolth."

The weather bureau has been gathering facts and statistics to show that the fresh cool summer we're having spreads almost over the whole country.

Missouri said the thermometer indicated an average four degrees below normal, which maintained the "cool of the last several weeks."

During the first week in August, Central Atlantic states on out to the mid-west had a pretty constant six degrees below normal. Nebraska reported "unseasonably cool" weather for the week ending July 25.

The weather forecaster's arent alarmed by the subnormal cool weather.

Philip Clapp, who helps make up the bureau's 30 day extended forecasts, says it is all quite explainable. During July, he told a reporter, the cool weather was attributable to unusually active frontal conditions, where warm air overrides cool. This, he said, led to a lot of rain over most of the country and kept temperatures down.

This month, it's a bit different. He pointed out on his weather charts several large-scale outbreaks of polar air from Central Canada which have spread all over the east and mid-west. they've brought the cool nights.

Will it last all summer? Probably not. The latest 30-day "outlook" calls for temperature slightly above normal for most of the country.

Robot Is Genius In Turning Up Missouri 'Chiselers' In Unemployment Insurance

Device Finds Evidence for Human Sleuths

This "mechanical detective" of hundreds of wires and electrical devices helps checkmate unemployment insurance chiselers for the Missouri Division of Employment Security at the central offices in Jefferson City. The picture shows two clerks being shown the fundamentals of the chiseler-catching gadget.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO—(Special)—The Missouri Division of Employment Security has a "mechanical detective" that turns up hundreds of persons annually who use chiseling practices to try to get unemployment insurance checks.

This robot, with its network of wires, grinds its way through millions of cards, checking and rechecking all insurance payments made to jobless claimants.

"It isn't that the Division of Employment Security is trying to avoid payment of claims to jobless persons entitled to benefits," said Charles A. Ricker, Director. "Rather it is an economical way of keeping the state's employment security program as clean as possible.

"We want to help the jobless when they are out of work but can't find jobs. We want them to have the insurance they have coming to them. At the same time we want to help the unemployed person find another job.

"However, it also is our job to put chiselers out of business. That is why we have a battery of 'mechanical brains' and a staff of field men on the trail of fraud at all times."

Headquarters in Capital

These "mechanical detectives" are here in the central offices of the Division of Employment Security, 1101 East Capitol Avenue. Local offices in 34 cities in Missouri are supervised from this headquarters.

Finding jobs for Missouri workers, and referring qualified workers to employers looking for help, is one of the principal functions of the employment security division.

But catching chiselers in the unemployment insurance phase of the program enlivens the routine duties of many employees.

"The percentage of chiselers is small, indeed," Ricker said, "but we will not tolerate any fraud and with the help of our mechanical devices we have been able to discover $764,500 in overpayments to workers, and the most of this was turned up after we intensified our anti-fraud activities in 1948. All of this money has been credited to the employers' reserve fund accounts, from which it originally was drawn."

Of the total, Ricker said, about one-third was recovered either in cash or in restitution of benefits due the worker, but which, instead, were diverted to the division to satisfy overpayments. Pending at the central office are more than 12,000 cases where all the workers' future wage credits must apply until the overpayment debt is satisfied.

Ricker said that not all of overpayments discovered were due to fraud. There were "honest mistakes" and "clerical errors" in the maze of causes of overpayments, he pointed out.

The director explained some of the ways in which the chiseler is caught.

Wage Reports Checked

Wage reports from Missouri's employers are checked against workers unemployment insurance claims. In each instance the employer's wage card contains the worker's social security account number. The number also is punched in the worker's claim card. These cards are also punched with other symbols. Wage and claim cards are first sorted for dates, then as to social security number sequence.

When claims and wage cards with the same social security number meet at the robot's testing point, the cards automatically are flipped out into a "suspect" channel.

This indicates the worker received unemployment insurance during the same period the employer paid his wages. However, this does not necessarily mean that it is a chiseling case. It does flag the case for further investigation.

All Tips Investigated

Other means of detecting fraud comes to the division from tipsters, such as jealous fellow workers and wives who don't want other wives' husbands getting more than their own.

All tips of possible fraudulent claims, whether from the "mechanical detective" or from personal contact, are investigated carefully before the division recommends the case for action by the prosecuting attorney in the county in which the fraud occurred.

In most of the court cases to date, the defendant has entered a plea of guilty. A person convicted of fraud is guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine or by imprisonment, or both.

Each Act Separate Offense

Although making a false claim to obtain benefits is classed as a misdemeanor, the law also provides that each such false statement shall constitute a separate offense. Therefore, each time a claimant wilfully commits fraud to get a check the additional offense can increase the penalty. A worker caught making false claims also loses his wage credits and cannot again draw out-of-work insurance until he establishes a new account through insured employment.

Maximum out-of-work insurance in Missouri is $20 a week or $400 in any one year, provided the worker has been in covered employment long enough. Because a worker pays social security taxes does not mean he is a covered employee under the law. Only the employer pays into the Missouri unemployment compensation fund. In 1949 employers paid $24,148,390 to the Missouri fund. During the same period $22,563,138 was paid out to workers for 1,378,439 weeks of unemployment.

Knit Suits Lose Their Sat-in Look

Black passementerie ribbon is used to outline single-breasted jacket, cuffs and pockets of this simple knitted tailleur.

By Gaile Dugas
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK — A few short years ago, knitted suits and dresses were seen chiefly on the ladies in the late Helen Hokinson's cartoons. When a woman wearing a knitted suit stood up, she looked as if she were still sitting down. All that is changed. Autumn's knitted suits hold the line through new knitting techniques. And they are smartly styled.

A simple knitted tailleur (right) is hand-loomed in wool boucle by Lass O'Scotland and given hand-finished details. Black passementerie ribbon, contrast for the toast shade of the suit, outlines the single breasted jacket, the cuffs and the four pockets. The skirt is ribbed and very slim.

A second suit (above) has added interest in its oversize pocket flaps. Knitted in a beige nubby yarn, it's as well tailored as any good suit in wool fabric. Single-breasted, it has an open V neckline and small standing collar. The skirt has wide ribbing but a narrow look.

The third in this trio is a sheath-like dress in soft blue. Rows of stitchwork are set into the easy dolman sleeves and used in horizontal bands on the skirt. The high, round neckline is the perfect foil for jewelry touches.

Price Advance To More Items

NEW YORK, Aug. 17—(AP)—The creeping price advance has spread to many more items.

The price boosts affect items ranging from golf balls to toothpaste, and paints to ginger ale.

The Worthington Ball Co., has upped the retail price of its golf balls a nickle apiece—to one dollar—because of higher costs of natural rugger.

A tube of toothpaste formerly selling for 23 cents was boosted to 29 by E. R. Squibbs and Sons. A 43-cent tube was raised to 49, and the 50-cent size to 97 cents.

A price increase of two cents a bottle on large bottles of ginger ale was put into effect in Boston by a local distributor of Canada Dry Products.

The Glidden Co. has announced an average price increase of five per cent on most of its paint products, effective Aug. 31.

National Lead Co. of New York boosted prices of lead products by one cent a pound, and other similar increases in lead prices were announced.

Because farm workers shifted to the oilfields, Venezuela had to import nearly all its food in World War II.

Family Goes To War

NEW YORK —(AP)— War is a family problem. At least it is to one Marine Corps clan. S/Sgt. William G. Hudson and Sgt. Richard E. Hudson, brothers attached to one of the First Marine Air Wing units bound for the Orient, thought they were lucky to be going together. What's better, they are taking "Pop" along.

Their step-father, 44-year-old M/Sgt. Harold A. Barnett of the First Marine division, is also on his way. Barnett, one of the Corps' foremost riflemen is a veteran of 26 years in the Marines, 14 of which have been spent on overseas assignments. He has been to China three separate times.

The brothers figure that since they are probably bound for the same area they can keep an eye on "the old man," while he exercises his parental prerogative of keeping them in line.

Labor Seeks Cooperative In Burma War Area

RANGOON — (AP) — A labor union in the Central Burma oilfields is hoping to talk the Burmese government into financing a laborer's cooperative industrial. It plans to give employment to approximately 3,000 trained men laid off by British-owned companies. The oil industry became virtually static when British companies curtailed operations last year owing to an acute military situation.

A British oil company official said journeys on company property had to be made in armed convoy and "even then there is danger."

General Is Busy to Ease Strain of War

By Don Whitehead
(For Hal Boyle)

WITH THE U. S. 25TH DIVISION, KOREA—(AP)—The American pulbic got a bargain in Brig. Gen. George B. Barth of Leavenworth, Kas. He's about the nearest there is to a doughboy's general that I've found in Korea.

Officially, Barth commands the artillery in the U. S. 25th Infantry Division. Actually he's an old infantryman at heart who never is satisfied with just looking after the artillery. He's always polking around the front and checking on the infantry.

Barth's main job is to see that the artillery is in position to give the maximum fire support to the foot soldiers. He does that. But he also acts as a traffic cop, a one man reconnaissance patrol, and an advisor who steadies officers with less combat experience.

When people talk of generals, particularly in Washington, they are apt to use the term "brass hat." But there's nothing brassy about the one star on the helmet of George Barth.

Barth is a stocky, well-built man who carries 52 years with little sign that the strain of war is a heavy burden. He has the neck of a Notre Dame tackle and the strong features of a Kansas farmer.

Routine For a Day

Here's a brief sketch of a dey in the general's routine:

He's up at 6:30 each morning and finished with breakfast by 7:30. After checking on the early morning battle situation, Barth sets out for the front by jeep with a weapon at his side.

His first chore is to visit his artillery batteries to see where the guns are placed; if there is eonugh ammunition; if the men are in good spirits, and if there is anything he can do to help them.

Once he knows all is well with his artillery, Barth pushes on up to visit the forward areas to see how things are going.

The other day Barth arrived at a regimental command post just as the enemy was attacking the regiment all along the line. Actually he had pushed beyond the command post. Foot soldiers gawked at the one-star general who rode through an erea swept by enemy fire.

Barth commanded a regiment of the 90th Division in World War II. So he was able to give a younger commnder some quieting advice. Within a few minutes, Barth had ammunition on its way to the regiment and was speeding tanks forward to help the infantry.

Then he scrambled through a ravine to visit one of his batteries which was firing at the enemy at point blank range—blasting hillside less than 800 yards away.

After a few minutes he was off again, back down the road where the enemy had been sniping at passing vehicles. Then he swung down another road and went forward on another sector to see how the Marines were doing.

The day before, Barth had pushed up so far that he had to take to a ditch when an enemy machine-gunner swept the road with fire.

Late in the afternoon he was back—bringing with him to division headquarters an exact picture of the situation up front.

Each day it's the same. Out in the field all day and then more work in the office at night. If the general were paid for his overtime, he would be able to retire with a fat bonus in pay.

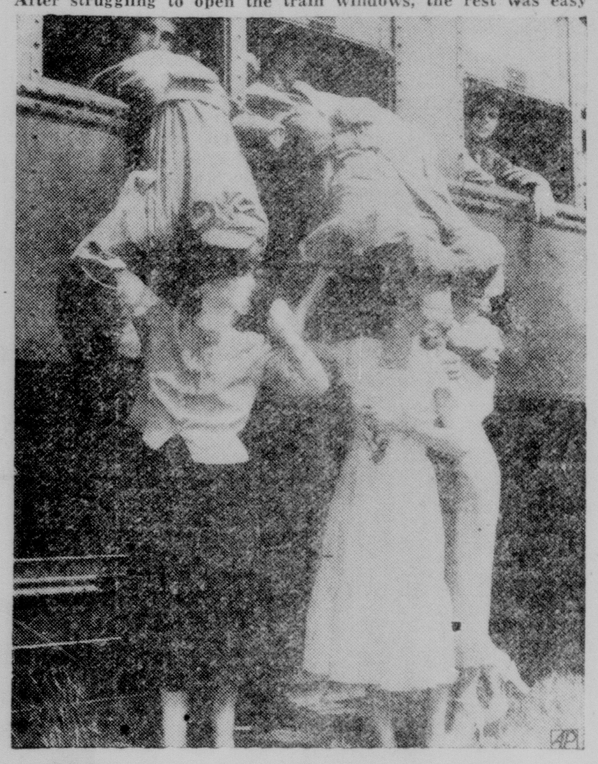

There was a time when artillerymen wore only sidearms for protection. But now Barth's men are arming themselves with rifles, and South Koreans are being sent into the hills to protect artillery positions.

But in the midst of fighting a war, the general took time out to take a box of home made cookies to the G. I.'s at the front.

It was a little thing to do. But it showed the kindness and thoughtfulness that for a moment eased the strain of war.

Project Tour By Pacific 4-H Club

The Pacific 4-H club members and parents held their 1950 project tour Sunday, August 13, at 1:30 p. m.

The tour started at the home of Catherine Schrader.

Catherine Schrader, Glena Fern Miesner, Delores Gos and Joyce Ives each had an exhibit of their clothing article and gave a talk on their projects.

The dairy calves of Junior and Richard Goss were shown, followed by a discussion of the good points of their dairy calves.

Lyman and Orlyn Brauer gave a showing of their dairy cows, followed by a discussion on the selection of a good dairy cow. A tour of their dairy barn, which Robert had wired through his farm electricity project, was then made.

A demonstration on culling pullets was given by Leonard and Burton Ives. Their broilers and equipment were also shown.

Eugene Oelrichs gave a showing of his baby beef animal.

The tour concluded with a watermelon feast.
